

COUNTY GETS BIDS ON $33,000 GRAVEL ROAD WORK

FILIBUSTER IS CONTINUED IN LOWER HOUSE

Chicago Bonding Bills Kept Before House by Opponents

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—Consideration of the Chicago bonding bills was resumed by the House of Representatives today after it had passed three minor appropriation measures.

The filibuster against the bills continued in full force.

The group now under consideration are those scaling down the tax rate in Chicago and Cook County by half. The "key bill" doubling the assessed value of property was passed by the House last night. The purpose of the series is to double the amount of bonds Chicago may issue.

Efforts to conciliate the group led by Representative Michael L. Igoe, whose filibuster has forced the reading of each bill in full, instead of by title, in order to secure its advancement, were unsuccessful at the beginning of the session.

Led by Representative Lee O'Neill, Brown, Ottawa, members who object to the snail-like pace at which the House is moving, made overtures of peace from the floor. Their suggestions for speeding up the wheels were rejected and the monotonous drone of the clerk's voice proceeded. Numerous objections were raised to the reading of the bills by members who insisted on technical points, but they were overruled by Speaker Scholes.

NEW LINDBERGH AIR MAIL STAMP RECEIVED HERE

Placed on Sale Thursday at Dixon's Post Office

Dixon's quota of Lindbergh air mail stamps was received at the post office Thursday afternoon and may now be obtained by the public. This unique stamp issue, which honors the young aviator, who made the first non-stop flight from New York to Paris, is the first government stamp to bear the name of a living person.

Lindbergh's photo is not on the stamp, but a picture of his famous monoplane, "Spirit of St. Louis," is shown in fine detail. The stamp is a 10-cent air mail postage stamp and it cannot be used for any other purpose. The Dixon post office is perhaps one of the first of the smaller offices in the United States to receive these stamps after they were officially placed on sale last week at Detroit, St. Louis, Little Falls, Minn., and Washington, D. C.

Morrison Man's Auto Taken, Recovered Here

A Ford coupe belonging to H. H. Burch of Morrison was taken from near the corner of Ottawa avenue and Second street in this city last night, according to a report made to the police. The car was later found on Van Buren avenue between Fourth and Sixth streets in the west end of the city, where it had been driven into a light post. The police were furnished with the description of a man who was seen tampering with the car about the time that it was misused. The machine, slightly damaged, was returned to its owner.

Slight Damage Done in Collision Thursday P. M.

A Hudson sedan, driven by P. J. Moersbacher of this city, was slightly damaged yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock when struck by a Ford car at the intersection of Second street and Ottawa avenue. Mr. Moersbacher was driving west on Second street when the Ford, approaching from the south struck him. Fortunately, the smaller car was traveling at a low rate of speed and the damage was very slight, none of the occupants of either car being injured.

Good Will Flyer's Next Stop to be at Des Moines

Hannibal, Mo., June 24.—(AP)—Major Herbert A. Dargue, good will flight commander, hopped off at 9:05 a. m. today for Des Moines, Ia. He landed here late Wednesday in his amphibian plane, "New York," in which he led the Pan-American flight early this year. He is accompanied on this 10,000 mile tour of 34 states by Walter O. Lochner of Trenton, N. J., president of the National Commercial Secretaries Association.

STORM PREVENTS "AMERICA'S" HOP OFF FOR EUROPE

Start of Trip Is Again Postponed Because of Bad Weather

BULLETIN.
New York, June 24.—(AP)—Commander Byrd said today it was improbable that the America would take off on its trans-Atlantic flight either today or tomorrow.

Conditions locally were not favorable for the take off.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., June 24.—(AP)—The monoplane "America" was lashed down on its runway today, its hope of flight to Paris blocked for another day by adverse weather.

Until after midnight preparations went forward for a take off at dawn. Then J. H. Kimball, weather bureau meteorologist on whose advice Commander Richard E. Byrd hangs his hopes of successful achievement, raised a hand in signal to halt.

There was a storm crossing the "America's" path. Fog was thick along the air route to New Foundland and extending out to sea.

"The flight must not be made Friday," Kimball said, "and Saturday is too far off to predict about."

FAMOUS CUT-OFF CASE APPEALED TO U. S. COURT

State to Carry I. C. Short Line Suit to Washington

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—In preparation for an appeal to the United States supreme court of the now famous Illinois Central Railroad Edgewood cut-off case, complete records of the case will be forwarded by the clerk of the Illinois Supreme Court to attorneys on both sides tomorrow. A praecipe, formally requesting the records, was received today.

The case involves legality of the operation of the Southern Illinois and Kentucky Railroad, a subsidiary of the Illinois Central, running in an airline from Edgewood, Ill., to Metropolis and thence across the Wabash into Kentucky. This branch line parallels the Illinois Central main line through southern Illinois and joins the Illinois Central at Edgewood in Kentucky.

Since the cut-off, built almost in a direct line from Edgewood to Metropolis, is a shorter course than the main line, cities along the main line, including Centralia, Vandalia and Cairo contend that its construction put them on a branch line to the detriment of commerce.

Avoids Payments to Ill.
The state's suit is based on the contention that the cut-off property should be a branch of the Illinois Central. The cut-off operates under an Interstate Commerce Commission permit and avoids paying the seven percent on their receipts which the state receives from the Illinois Central property.

The case was brought in the superior court of Cook County where the court found for the contesting cities and the state. An appeal to the appellate court reversed this decision. The case was taken to the supreme court which found the railroad's operation a matter for the Interstate Commerce Commission and thus under jurisdiction of federal courts. The state is appealing to the U. S. court.

Jury Finds Holderman Guilty in County Court

Ora Holderman of this city was found guilty of a charge of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition by a jury in the county court yesterday. A number of witnesses testified at the trial, the jury retiring at 5:30. They were taken to supper and then returned to consider a verdict, finding the defendant guilty of the charge as contained in the information at 8:50 last evening.

SILVER JUBILEE OF DIXON K. OF C. COUNCIL SUNDAY

Local Knights of Columbus Will Celebrate 25th Birthday

Dixon Council, No. 690, Knights of Columbus will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of its institution into the order next Sunday, and the officers and members are planning to make the Silver Jubilee program the most auspicious in the history of the Council. Many of the charter members of the Council have signified their intention to return to Dixon for the day's activities and visiting Knights are to be present from all surrounding Councils.

The jubilee program will start with all members and candidates for membership attending the 7:15 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's Catholic church. Immediately after the mass the members will march to the Club Home where breakfast will be served them by the ladies of the Parish.

At 10:30 o'clock the second degree of the order will be exemplified to a large class of candidates by the local officers, and at 3 o'clock the third degree work will be exemplified to a class of over forty candidates by degree officers from Chicago, the afternoon ceremonies to be conducted in Downing Hall.

Evening Program.
The jubilee celebration will be continued at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Family Theater, where Quinn O'Brien, prominent Chicago attorney and lecturer, will be the principal speaker. He has for years been one of the most prominent of the country's chautauqua lecturers and his addresses are always instructive and entertaining. He is at present on a lecture tour through the New England states, but will return to Illinois in time to keep his engagement in Dixon. Admission to the evening program will be by complimentary ticket to members and their friends.

History of Council.
Dixon Council, No. 690, Knights of Columbus, was instituted in the Order in Dixon on June 25, 1902, the charter members numbering about fifty. Since then the Council has always been very prominent in the affairs of the Order, of the local Catholic church and in local civic activities. The Council has grown in membership to over 300 members and within the last year has purchased and improved its beautiful new Club Home at Third street and Madison avenue, which it now occupies.

Plans are now being made for enlarging the home so as to provide more room for Council and Parish activities. Since the institution of the Council the members have always cooperated in all matters pertaining to the good of the order and the community, and it is to this spirit of co-operation that the continued success of its activities is attributed.

First Officers.
The first officers of Dixon Council were:

Grand Knights—John E. Ford.
Deputy Grand Knight—John E. Erwin.
Chancellor—Michael Maloney.
Financial Secretary—Michael Hogan.
Recording Secretary—Royal Jones.
Treasurer—James Ford.

POLO VETERAN, FATHER DIXON WOMAN, DIED THURSDAY AFTER ILLNESS OF BUT SINGLE DAY

(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, Ill., June 24.—William Shafer, Civil War veteran and a resident of Ogle county since his young manhood, died at his home in Polo at 5 o'clock Thursday evening, death resulting from pneumonia, which which he was ill but one day. Funeral arrangements had not been made at noon today, pending receipt of some word from a daughter in California, and they will be announced later.

Mr. Shafer was born in Terre Haute, Ind., in January, 1843, moving to Ogle county with his parents in his young manhood. He was married in 1863 to Miss Elizabeth

READY TO DASH INTO OCEAN DARKNESS

Elin Lyons Hanged in Chicago: Omaha's "Sniper" Dies

Chicago, June 24.—(AP)—The gallows twice cheated by legal intercessions, claimed Elin Lyons today. The Colombian soldier of fortune was hanged at 7 a. m. for the murder in December of Policeman Julian Bonfield.

To the last he avowed his innocence nor did he give up hope of again escaping the noose.

Guards said he slept well until 5 a. m., when the last rites of the church were administered.

Working all night to save him were his attorneys who had the support of the Colombian consul here. Efforts also were made at Washington. Companion Escaped.
Officer Bonfield was shot after Lyons and a negro companion, who never was captured, had held up 23 girl employees at the University Extension Conservatory. Lyons insisted Bonfield had shot himself as he sought to search Lyons.

Lyons indicted six letters to relatives. One was to his divorced wife—"Just to cheer her up," he explained. As daylight crept into the death cell, the forty-year-old adventurer remarked that "it won't be long now," adding "I hope God will grant me strength to die like a man."

Lyons went to his death calmly. He was accompanied onto the scaffold by a priest.

"SNIPER" ELECTROCUTED

Lincoln, Neb., June 23.—(AP)—With a smile on his lips, Frank Carter, Omaha "sniper bandit" was electrocuted today for the murder at Omaha a year and a half ago of Dr. A. R. Searles.

Carter died as he had lived in prison for several months—unafraid and willing to "have it over with."

The execution ended a long fight of Carter's attorneys to save him from death. Carter was sentenced to die after he had carried out a week's "reign of terror" in Omaha.

Young "Doctor" is Sought as Bigamist by Police

Chicago, June 24.—(AP)—Lester E. Goodheart, 35, who said he was a doctor, was sought today on a charge of bigamy. He met Miss Louise Deppe June 1. Four days later they eloped to Ottawa, Illinois, and were married.

$10,000 FIRE IN HEART STERLING BUSINESS DIST.

Hop Inn and Pool Room Destroyed by Fire Early Today

(Telegraph Special Service)
Sterling, Ill., June 24.—The Hop Inn and Toffe pool room in Wall street in the heart of Sterling's business district were destroyed by fire of unknown origin at an early hour this morning, and the Middleton bottling works in the basement of the destroyed building suffered heavy loss from water.

The fire, which evidently had its origin in the kitchen of the Hop Inn, a soft drink parlor and eating house, was discovered about 3:15 o'clock this morning, but because it had worked its way up under the tar roof, which it created a heavy smudge, it was almost impossible for the firemen to locate the blaze until the entire upper part of the building burst out in flames simultaneously.

The old building, was owned by Mrs. John Preston, a frame structure covered with sheet metal, and the Hop Inn was owned by John Schroeder, who purchased the business Monday and assumed possession only yesterday.

The loss is estimated at about $10,000, partially covered by insurance. Floek's barber shop and Oppold's jewelry store, near the scene, suffered some smoke damage, but the Central Trust & Savings Bank, of which W. L. Frye of Dixon is cashier, located in a brick building adjoining the Hop Inn escaped any damage.

Patient, Escaping from State Hospital, Caught

Robert Wallace, feeble-minded patient, who was making his escape from the Dixon state hospital, was picked up by Highway Commissioner James Penny this morning near the Grand Detour bridge. Wallace was detained and turned over to the institution officials.

YOUNG FARMER ADMITS KILLING JOLIET MAN IN ROBBERY ATTEMPT TO GET MONEY TO PAY FOR AUTO

Joliet, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—Because he was in danger of losing his car through his inability to meet the payments, Curtis Van Meter, 29, a farmer living six miles south of her, Wednesday night shot and killed the slain man's soft drink saloon netted him only about 12, however, he said. After the slaying he went home and slept and yesterday went to his mother, near the place where he was working and received $40, "vacation money." He was about to leave in his car when deputies arrested him. He confessed immediately. He said he received the gun, a small caliber single shot revolver, from a westerner in trade for a pair of leather boots last year.

WOULD-BE WOOER OF GIRL SHOTS HER FATHER, 65

60-Year-Old Bloomington Man Then Turned Gun on Himself

Bloomington, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—Culminating an old quarrel, a man known here as "Granny" Hobson, today shot Harry M. Payne, 65 year old grocer, twice through the abdomen and then shot himself through the chest when surrounded by police and sheriff officers and neighbors armed with guns.

Hobson, who is 60, and Payne had been involved in a feud because Payne would not let Hobson marry his daughter Leona, neighbors say.

Hobson entered Payne's store and shot him. Payne's son Charles gave chase. Both had guns and exchanged shots wildly. The neighborhood was aroused and police were called out.

Hobson took refuge in a lumber yard, hiding under a pile of boards. As Sheriff Neistheimer of McLean County reached for his legs to pull him out, Hobson shot himself.

Both were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it is thought Hobson will die.

COMMITTEES OF EXPERTS STUDY ARMS PROPOSALS

Agreement Looked for on Question of Submarines Tonnage

BULLETIN.
Geneva, June 24.—(AP)—Great Britain will accept parity with the United States in the matter of 10,000 ton cruisers, W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, said this afternoon. The question of parity on other cruisers was still under discussion, he added.

If the British project is agreed to, the 10,000 ton category would disappear the time comes for replacement of the vessels, and the maximum of all would then be 7,500 tons.

Geneva, June 24.—(AP)—Formation of committees of experts to study limitation of cruisers, destroyers and submarines was decided on at today's meeting of the executive committee of the naval conference. The committee also chose W. C. Bridgeman, British delegate, as chairman.

Today's session produced a feeling of expectation that agreement may be reached on submarines.

One of the most hopeful signs was the disposition shown by the British delegates to discuss figures on total submarine tonnage which subject they previously had avoided. Hope is expressed that a way may be found for the British delegates also to accept the American tonnage proposals on cruisers and destroyers.

The conference committee on cruisers will study the British scheme for reducing the tonnage of cruisers built hereafter from 10,000 to 7,500 tons.

The Associated Press was informed today that the Japanese delegation has officially notified the British group that the reopening of the Washington agreements would exceed the mandates of the present conference.

It was agreed today that any formulas drawn up by the subcommittee of the conference, would be subject to review by the executive committee.

A passionate plea for British supremacy on the seas was printed in a local newspaper today. The article bore the name of "Admiral B." This personage is exerting much curiosity in conference circles, but his identity has not been made known. Rear Admiral A. B. Beal is here with the British delegation, but a spokesman denied that any member of the British delegation was contributing to the press.

To put the House of Parliament in thorough repair would cost nearly five million dollars and would require fifteen years to do the work.

ALL BUT FOUR TOWNSHIPS IN CO-OPERATION

Road Committee Also Considers Plans to Repair Bridges

Members of the county road and bridge committee were in session at the court house today in their busiest meeting of the year. This morning several of the supervisors and township highway commissioners were present, filling the supervisor's room, to hear the reading of bids for the $33,000 gravel program which is to be financed through excess earnings for the 1927 season.

Townships availing themselves of the program of resurfacing county roads with gravel appropriate $1,500, a like amount being received from the road and bridge committee, totaling $3,000 for such townships in resurfacing and improvement of county roads this summer. The work is now under way in several of the townships and but four townships in the county, Dixon, South Dixon, Natchua and Alto, have not arranged for the work as yet. Contracts for these four townships will be let later in the season.

Consider Bridge Work.

With the completion of the work and the awarding of contracts for the gravel program this afternoon, the road and bridge committee will take up the task of outlining a plan for the rebuilding and repairing of $50,000 worth of bridges and culverts throughout the county, which were damaged or completely destroyed by the heavy spring rains. The committee made a thorough canvass of the county early in the week with a view of having the work done at once by the county when it was considered that contractors bids were excessive. This matter will be decided at this afternoon's session of the committee.

Contractors submitting bids for the gravel program at this morning's sessions were as follows:

F. M. Johnson, Dixon; Raymond Hill, Lee Center; Peach & White, Hamilton; Western Sand & Gravel company, Spring Valley; Bert Wallace, Dixon; A. L. Schrader, Hamilton; Albert Keyes, Amboy; Frank Detig, Steward; Lee North, Amboy; T. M. Kruse, Walnut; Ray Apple, West Brooklyn; Frank Knauer, Viola; C. A. Ulrich, Ed Pomeroy, Leonard Dewar, Lee Center; Joseph Hopkins, Hamilton; DeWitt Warner, Oregon, and Paul McGinnis, Palmyra.

TILDEN, HUNTER, RYAN AND WILLS ARE VICTORIOUS

U. S. Tennis Stars Advanced Today in Wimbledon Meet

Wimbledon, Eng., June 24.—(AP)—William Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, American stars, continued their progress in the men's singles of the Wimbledon lawn tennis tournament today.

Tilden had an easy time with Christ Bousseas, young French player whom he defeated 6-1, 7-5, 6-2. Hunter, however, came through only after a gruelling five set struggle with J. C. Grekor, one of England's leading players. The score was 4-6, 7-5, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Elizabeth Ryan of the U. S. advanced in the women's singles defeating Miss Harvey of England.

Miss Helen Wills reached the quarter finals by a victory over Miss Fleen Bennette of England, 7-5, 6-3.

Reunion of Old 6th Regiment to be Held in Kewanee in July

Members of old Company G of the Illinois National Guard, which at the time of the World War became an important unit of the 128th Field Artillery, as a member of the Sixth regiment, were informed today of a biennial encampment to be held next month. Kewanee has been selected as the city for the entertainment of the veterans and two days have been set aside for the reunion.

Several members of the former Dixon company of the Sixth regiment of the National Guard will leave Friday evening for Kewanee and remain over Sunday. The dates for the reunion and encampment have been set for Saturday and Sunday, July 16 and 17, with a program of entertainment and activity which will keep the visitors busy for the entire time.

OLD MASTERS

We, the Fairies, blithe and antic, of dimensions not gigantic, Though the moonshine mostly keep us.

Off in orchards frisk and peep us.
Stolen sweets are always sweeter,
Stolen kisses much completer,
Stolen looks are nice in chapels,
Stolen, stolen be your apples.

When to bed the world is labbing, Then's the time for orchard robbing;

Yet the fruit were scarce worth peeling.

Girl Scouts Ready For Camp June 30

Final arrangements have been made for the Girl Scouts Camp starting June 30th. So much benefit was derived by the girls who attended the camp last year that it is hoped that even a larger number may attend this summer. The camp is at the beautiful Bovey Springs site and the water is pure and surroundings are healthful and inspiring. Miss Mc-Ginnis, at one time community nurse in Dixon, has been selected to be with the girls in the camp and advise them. One feature is brought promptly to the attention of all, and that is that there are a number of nice young girls who cannot attend camp unless someone assists them financially. Last year many civic minded people helped a number of the girls to attend. One nice feature about it was the fact that the girls did not know they were being helped financially and all were on an equal footing, and no one's feelings wounded. It costs $7 to send a girl to camp and anyone desiring to give that sum or donate a sum of money toward it, may leave the money with Mrs. W. A. Rhodes, 618 Second St.
No one in Dixon to think of some young girl forced to stay at home because of the lack of money, while here playmates have the fun and benefits of camp life. It will be a generous and kind hearted act to assist the girls.

Joint Meeting Aid Societies Happy Event

The joint meeting Wednesday of the Ladies' Aid Societies of the Grand Detour Christian church and the Dixon Christian church, in the Dixon church, was a very happy and well attended gathering. Over fifty sat down to the bountiful picnic dinner, and under the skill of the multiple fingers a huge amount of needlework was completed.

At 2 o'clock, an informal program was much enjoyed. Mrs. Wm. C.
Stauffer of the Dixon Society presiding. Mrs. Martha Shippert of Nachusa gave a group of her choice readings, also Mrs. Alfred Parks of Grand Detour; and Ethel Seyster of Dixon added a piano selection. An all-day outing at one of Grand Detour's many picnic spots will be arranged soon for the two societies.

Sunday, July 3rd, the Grand Detour church has invited Dixon and Pine Creek congregations to have fellowship with them in the annual "Basket Meeting." Prof. Neer of Harmon will speak of the 11 o'clock meeting, and Dr. H. H. Peters of Bloomington at 2:30, with a great 1 o'clock dinner in the Town Hall.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY.

BREAKFAST—Halves of grape fruit, scrambled eggs, crisp broiled bacon, whole wheat muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Luncheon asparagus, lettuce sandwiches, carrot pudding, lemonade.

DINNER—Pot roast of beef with dumplings, creamed corn cabbage, button radishes, fresh fruits in jelly with whipped cream, sponge cake, milk, coffee.

The asparagus dish planned for luncheon makes an ideal company dish, but is wholesome and suitable for the entire family. Canned asparagus can be used when fresh asparagus is not in season.

Luncheon Asparagus.
Two bunches asparagus, 1 1/2 cups sifted dried bread crumbs, two-thirds cup hot milk, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 eggs.

Put stale bread into a slow oven to dry thoroughly. Roll and sift crumbs.
Wash and scrape asparagus and steam fifteen minutes. Cool and cut stem fifteen minutes. Cool and cut the tender part into half-inch pieces.

Add milk to crumbs, adding enough milk to make moist. The crumbs may absorb more or less than two-thirds cup of milk. Season with salt, pepper and butter. Beat eggs until very light and add with prepared asparagus to moist crumbs. Fold lightly but thoroughly and turn into a well buttered mold. Cover and steam forty-five minutes. Serve with a rich cream sauce or mock Holland-aise.

Miss Lally Bride of David Welty

Geraldine Lally, daughter of Mrs.
Mary Lally, and David C. Welty of Marion township were united in marriage at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, June 21 at St. Clara's church at 64th and Woodlawn, Chicago.
The bride was prettily attired in a gown of white georgette and lace, with a long veil and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Bernice Lally, wore pink tulle and ribbon over pink satin, and carried a shower bou-quet of sweet peas. The matron of honor was Kathryn Lally. She was dressed in green taffeta and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Willam Curran, formerly of Dixon and now of Chicago, was the best man.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served for the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom at the bride's home at 1627 E.
68th Place.

The bride and bridegroom left Chicago at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening on their honeymoon. They are bound for Denver, Los Angeles, and Portland, Ore., where they will visit with Mr. Welty's sister, Mrs. M. B. Reilly.
They will return about August 15, and will make their home on the Welty farm in Marion township.

Both bride and bridegroom are well known to Amboy and Dixon people.
The bride has made numerous friends in this vicinity and Mr. Welty, who grew to manhood on the Welty farm in Marion, is one of the most popular of the younger farmers in this county.
The couple have the best wishes of the entire community for a long, happy and prosperous wedded life.

News From Girls Camp at Bovey's Springs This Week

The Girls' Hi-Y Camp, called the "Builders," celebrated its first birthday last evening. A fine supper was served and the dessert was quite extra. Frances Forsythe's birthday was Wednesday and she kept her cake that all girls having birthdays during June and July might celebrate together with the camp celebration.

The guests were, Mr. and Mrs.
Kohler and Mary Wellman. Mrs.
Livingston and Miss Jean Hitchcock visited us in the afternoon, leaving some fine eats.

The Toastmistress, Mrs. Helen
Foreman, gave us a fine message.
Ruth Wellman gave a toast on her past vacations. Bernice Leland on camp will have to make strides to arrive to the prophesy given by Mary Louise.

VACATIONS OF THE PAST By Ruth Wellman

There always must be a first time to any activity, and this camp has been that for me, as well as for a great number of girls here. In fact, I feel safe in saying that none of the girls have ever been to a camp directed similarly to this one.

I have always spent my vacation by staying home with much leisure time, or by visiting with friends and relatives. To look nice and keep cool were my objectives. Many of my friends spent their summers in the same manner. As a result, no benefits were derived, either physically or socially, since acquaintanceship in silk is soon forgotten, while friendships in knickers lasts forever.

Some girls worked during their vacation and they have become forced to show ones exterior to other people. They have had no time to learn to appreciate other girls' qualities and in turn give forth those things which they possess.

Though only four days of this camp period have transpired, every girl in camp has responded. Rising, dining, and retiring together has removed all the formality which existed in conversation between any of the girls prior to this time. No matter what happens, we can never meet each other again without feeling a common bond of friendship.

If then the results of this camp are so excellent, let us celebrate its birthday all the more, and hope that it lives to a ripe old age.

HI-Y CAMP OF TODAY By Bernice Leland

This being the first Hi-Y camp, it seems somewhat of a novelty to most of us. Oh yes, some of us have been to Scout camp, but never to a camp under quite the regulation that this one has. In the first place, we have a keen director, you know, lots of fun and all that, and, as Jones would say,
"Does she know her Spanish onions?"
That lively director, with a splendid case of Charley-horse, and a husband who is a fair umpire in baseball, is Mrs. Yohn.

Then we have some real Senior Counselors. Lola, with her grin and curly hair, Mrs. Foreman, who is some flying Dutchman, Miss Pittman, who is such a batter, Miss Hennessy, that darling short-stop, and Cleta White, better late than never, and how!

And another thing! We mustn't forget jolly Nurse Cleon who holds us in check with one magic word, and Mrs. Cline! She's a combined cook and baseball player, losing one heel from vigorous playing, and doing a Grecian interpretive dance between runs. Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Cleon received callers Wednesday night for campfire, each caller, the fond husbands, entertaining us girls by getting up and performing, mostly with grins.

We all enjoy our singing too, I'm sure. We have some dandy songs, all about nice pussy's tails and little Fords, (imagine they're Dodges), and then some camping songs in which the descriptions of moonlight and campfire and creeks are just made for our dear Bovey Springs, especially in the rain.

We are the Builders in more than one way. We build up friendship, sportsmanship, health, appetites, good will, cheer, and ability to work with a will. I guess the boys could verify the last, for beside building bridges, cowboy duty, wood chopping, mechanics and work on the tents, they make real work of eating, especially when the Dodge tires blow out.

The Nature Study campers are forming a drive for specimens. It's really funny to see Avis Richardson hot on the trail of one of those squeamish, slimp, froggy friends of ours in the marsh.

The Camp Craft group has made miniature fires out beyond the baseball field and all of the members are feeling real proud of their ability to strike matches and light pieces of paper.

Swimming and ball, horse shoes and boxing are enjoyed by all of us.

So far, Utley is our boxing champion, but I've a hunch that Richardson is making up her mind to challenge.

I'm sure we all love our camp and everything for which it stands, building up of mind and body in every possible way. Let each of us work toward a common objective, the success of our Hi-Y Camp.

OUR FUTURE CAMP By Mary Louise Withers

As we came into Hi-Y camp, in the year of 1928, we saw a wonderfully developed camp of 1927. Going to our tents we stopped short in surprise. There was running water in each tent instead of running about a block to get a drink and going across the creek to get our hands and faces washed.

Imagine our surprise when at dusk suddenly electric lights were flashed on in the tents. We had only flashlights to give us light last year.
The councillors were astonished to find electric curling irons in the cottage, especially Mrs. Yohn, who initiated it first.

After our afternoon we went into the new bath house and had a hot and cold shower. Boy! Did it feel good, and how!

One night it rained and in the morning instead of walking through the tall, wet grass we had splendid sidewalks to walk back and forth on.

The dining room surprised all of us. We came into a brilliantly lighted room with shining porcelain tops on the tables. And lo and behold, we didn't have to wash our own dishes but just put them in an electric dishwasher and dryer and were through.

Another novelty was installed. This was a swinging bridge across the creek. This caused a lot of shrieks of joy among the campers.

Next the recreational hall was visited. In one room was the library with all kinds of books for those who forget to bring any. The music room was the noisiest of all because it was inhabited by the piano, radio and phonograph. Speaking of noisy things, an aeroplane which took the place of Mrs. Yohn's Ford and the 1914 model Dodge, furnished us with enough noise to make up for both cars.

Sundays we wore white linen knickers and white shoes on the new golf course and many of us went riding on the bridge path.

An electric washer had been installed and a laundress had been paid to come and wash all our socks and soiled linen. Thus ended the future of our camp.

SOUND ADVICE.

Police Judge Thompson of Elgin, delivered a little lecture to a courtroom full of auto traffic law violators the other day—a lecture that a whole lot of automobile drivers might well listen to.

Enlarging on the increase in the number of traffic cases brought on by yearly increases in traffic, Judge Thompson said:

"It isn't a question of more fines—the city doesn't want, or need the money—but it's a big question of protection to motorist and pedestrian, and we've got to wake up to the realization that increased traffic means increased hazard, and calls for far more careful traffic driving."

He's absolutely right. Careful driving—there's the nub of the thing. If all motorists were really careful traffic accidents could be reduced tremendously. It's time we realized it.

THEY REGULATED TRAFFIC.

A colored man was lynched in an Arkansas city the other day. After being hanged and shot full of bullets, his body was taken to a street corner in the negro section of town and burned.

The city where this happened was a good-sized, ordinarily well-regulated city. Probably you're wondering—"Where were the police while all of this was going on?"

Well, the last paragraph of the news dispatch that told of the lynching reads:

"The police directed traffic, which congested the streets for blocks around the scene."

MORE TREES—FEWER FLOODS.

Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association, comes forward with a new idea relative to floods.

Reforestation on a large scale, he says, would cut down our flood perils enormously. Here is his argument: deforested areas shed rainfall. The soil absorbs little water; rivers, in consequence, go over their banks in the springtime. In forested areas the reverse is true. The ground acts as a sponge and the rivers do not rise so high. As a result, there are fewer floods.

We believe Mr. Pack is right. This adds one more to the many valid arguments for nation-wide reforestation efforts.

Charles Lindbergh attended the University of Wisconsin, but he was not invited to join a fraternity. Messages of congratulation went out of Wisconsin from Governor Zimmerman and President Frank of the university.

Legionnaires of an Illinois city gave Vice President Dawes a life. Maybe the Senate would pay some attention to that.

Chamberlin and Levine never may equal Lindbergh's glory, but look what they did for Ambassador Schurman!

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The pelicans flew 'round and 'round some fifty feet above the ground. King Roar just kept on clapping and the Tines joined right in. To see them was a funny sight, all clapping time, with all their might. They kept it up for quite a time and raised a mighty din.

The king then said, "All right, let's stop. The birds are all about to drop. That is the way I call them. They obey me very fine." The pelicans then came down low. Their moves presented quite a show. At first they'd fly haphazard and then form in one long line.

"Ah, here they come," wee Clowey said. "I hope they don't land on my head." "Don't worry, son," the king replied. "They all are trained too well. But, as they landed on the beach, the Tines, to be out of reach, turned on their heels and scampered 'way to sheltering trees pell mell. The pelicans formed in a crowd and walked up to the king real Money is not the only thing that public spirited citizens can give to help promote the welfare of their city. Time and hard labor are just as essential contributions, and they are often harder to find.

How Cheyenne, Wyo., volunteers gave that city one of the best airports in the country illustrates the benefits to be derived from gifts of labor.

Cheyenne wanted to become the "airport of the west." It called upon its citizens to come forward and help the city get this title. Volunteers pitched in and, assisted by the state highway department, graded and leveled the airport field.

Cheyenne also is attracting the motor tourist. Nearly 12,000 cars carrying over 35,000 tourists took advantage of Cheyenne last year in what is one of the best tourist camps in the country, laid out and planned by volunteers. Here are some of the things this camp provides: cabins, store, postoffice, telephone, service, local and long distance telephones, hot and cold showers with individual dressing rooms, laundry with stationary tubs, electric iron and ironing boards, shade, police protection, wash rack for cars, community house, firewood, filtered mountain water, fire places, kitchen, bathing beach, sanitary facilities, bass fishing, tables, benches, electric lights.

Cheyenne is inviting the whole country to come for a visit or for good-bye by air, by train, or by auto.

SAINT and SINNER

Not two whole weeks had passed before Faith asked Bob Hathaway the inevitable question, a throb of fear and hurt love in her voice:

"Darling, don't you love me any more?"

And Bob, pain and reproach, both of himself and her, darkening and now rather tired blue eyes, swept her into his arms and held her tightly against his breast, as he answered, huskily:

"Love you? Why, you foolish darling, I love you so much I can't work comfortably without torturing myself with the need for a glimpse of you."

"You haven't told me so far two days," Faith gasped, but a smile shone luminously through her tears. "Honey-girl, if I don't tell you so again for six months, the truth it self will not be changed an iota. I love you for keeps, sweetheart. With me it's the great principle that makes the world go 'round."

That had kept her tremulously happy for a day, but the next day and the next she listened for the words and wept a little after Bob had gone to sleep at night because he had not uttered them. She told herself, sorrowfully, that during those first three heavenly days Bob had uttered them a hundred times, as if the sound of the words could never grow monotonous, as if they were new each time he said them.

Of course the omnipresence of the family had a great deal to do with his more casual attitude. Bob was married, she kept reminding herself. He could not give her one of those long, dizzying kisses with her father or Joy or Cherry looking on.

The first time that Bob left for his office without kissing Faith goodbye was a day of stark tragedy. He did not love her any more, or if he did, the flame had died down, and he loved her coolly, as all husbands did. She did not want kindly affection, absent-minded tenderness; she wanted passionate love, leaping in his eyes and tingling in his fingertips when he caressed her hair ardently.

Those three days, when love had been so gloriously realized, had made her greedy. These staid, calmer days made her fearful, a little desolate, her heart oppressed with tears she was too proud to shed.

Fear that it was her fault that love had become a less flaming thing goaded her into nervous little attempts to charm him.

"Is it new? Of course it's pretty, but honey-girl, you look beautiful to me in anything you put on."

She wished, with a pang of envy, that she had Cherry's irresistible lure, her inborn coquettishness, her adorable femininity. She could not imagine any man's growing tired of Cherry—if Cherry chose to love him. Even now, though she knew Bob loved her with all his heart, Faith could not help noticing that his eyes glinted with appreciation when Cherry appeared. Cherry was a constant feast to the eye, with her copper-and-gold curls rioting babyishly over her small head, with her rose-petal skin paling and flushing under censure or praise. His eyes seemed to miss none of the feast, even when disapproving, resenting her taking up so much of his wife's time, for being an inevitable third when they two wanted to be alone together.

And then one evening Cherry was mysteriously missing, and Faith's and Bob's pleasure in their unusual privacy in the living room of the new home was tarnished with anxiety as

Is Your Car Vicious?

Is it like this:

Does driving your car give you a pain across the shoulders and "take it out of you" generally?

Does the rear seat too often leap and toss the passengers, sometimes mildly and sometimes violently?

Does the front end of the car bob and pitch and make it necessary for you to drive very slowly and cautiously over even moderately bad roads? At speed, and often at merely moderate speeds, do the front wheels bounce and "shimmy" and "tramp"? Does the steering wheel jerk around in your hands?

Do the rear wheels bounce and spin and scuff the tires against the road? Over even moderately rough roads, does the rear axle chatter and lash around as though it wasn't hitched to the car at all?

When brakes are applied, does the rear axle frequently go into bucking convulsions?

Is the whole sensation of riding at even moderate speeds one of looseness and insecurity—like the feeling a canary must have when you pull the cage down and then let it bob and plunge on its uncontrolled spring?

All of the above symptoms result from one and the same disease—uncontrolled or improperly controlled spring recoil.

Why do you suppose manufacturers like Cadillac, Packard, Chrysler, Franklin, Stutz, Peerless, Nash, Hudson and a dozen others have made Stabilators standard equipment? Simply and only because Watson Stabilators have been found by them to be the device which does properly control spring recoil and which does, therefore, put an end to all the ailments and damage caused by uncontrolled spring recoil.

An Ex-Buck PRIVATE goes back to FRANCE

Editor's Note: This is chapter 69 of the series of articles written by an ex-soldier who is revisiting France as a correspondent for The Telegraph.

CHAPTER LXIX

Be it known—and this applies to all prospective tourists—that the true Parisian front cannot be affected until the art of "managing" a brioche and chossant has been mastered. For the brioche and the chossant (one or the other or both constitute the Parisian's idea of a breakfast and are the chief reasons why a waiter is almost ready to take umbrage in large doses who man American asks for a couple of oeufs and some jambon early in the morning. The brioche is, possibly, a biscuit.

It is made out of a yellowish-tinted dough that is done to a neat, brown turn. Fashioned in scalloped lines, it is quite regular in shape up to a certain point when it does a spectacular bulge. It is very dry and tastes something like the little rolls of absorbent cotton a dentist uses while working on a molar. Dipped in coffee ("dunked") is the word there, brother, it isn't so bad, however.

Of the twain, the chossant is the most advantageous to operate. It is shaped like a crescent—which is what "chossant" means. Unlike its humble compatriot, the chossant is made of a sort of flake pie dough and breaks off in little layers. It may be attacked from either end, and is by far the most dunkable. At the same time, it is the more durable. Tests have shown that one chossant will outlast two brioches. Besides, when immersed in the coffee it won't slip off the rim of the cup. The young lady pictured herewith—(Name, address and telephone number on application—PERHAPS—) has just snuk up on a brioche and a chossant in a lair along the Avenue de l'Opera. She has choked the brioche into complete submission and is about to throttle the chossant with her right.

Anyhow—if the members of the American Legion who come over in September expect to become full-fledged Parisians they'd better brush up on their dunking. Then they can manage the brioche and the chossant at will—and they'll pass all inspections.

Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, who appeared to have lost the knack of home run hitting, smashed three against the Boston Red Sox yesterday to run his count to 21. Babe Ruth is on the heels of his record breaking 1921 season yet he leads Lou by only three.

The Yanks won 11-4 snaring their 9th consecutive conquest and showing their winning percentage to .721 in the 61 games played.

The Athletics climbed into second place with a 4-1 victory over Washington while Chicago fell back under an eleven inning 6-5 defeat by Detroit. Al Simmons' tenth homer, his third in two games, helped Pitcher Willis along. A Tiger triple play in the third inning featured the Detroit win.

Rain halted the Cleveland-St. Louis fray in the sixth, but not before the Indians had piled up a 7-2 advantage.

The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of Pittsburgh's idleness to gain a half game on the National League pacemakers with a neat 4-3 win over Cincinnati. New York copped both ends of a double bill from the Boston Braves 6-2 and 9-6.

A battle of southpaws gave Brooklyn a 3-1 win over Philadelphia.

Lyons of the White Sox went out after his 13th victory of the season, but pitched in tough luck against the Tigers. He allowed only six hits and only three runs, but there were three errors.

The Yanks and Athletics are billed for double headers on Saturday and Sunday at New York.

Sharkey's Glare Fails to Affect Former Champion

New York, June 24—(AP)—The frosty glare of Jack Sharkey's steel gray eyes means nothing to Jack Dempsey, whose black scowl once held a terrifying reputation of its own.

In the parlance of the ring Sharkey "put the eye" on the former heavyweight champion when the pair of Jacks met before Tex Rickard yesterday and signed articles for Dempsey's first effort along the comeback trail here July 21. The effect was not all that Sharkey expected.

That Sharkey glare, a psychological barrage of high power, is commonly supposed to have had a disastrous effect on Harry Wills, before Jack whipped the giant negro last fall. They said it even intimidated Mike McTigue and accounted for the "Indian sign" the Boston girl is reported to hold over Jimmy Maloney. It made Dempsey grin broadly.

Chicago, June 24—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner in a copyright story today asserts Gene Tunney, heavyweight boxing champion, will defend his title at Soldier Field, Chicago.

The fight is scheduled for either the last week of September or the first week of October, the account continued and will involve the winner of the Jack Dempsey-Jack Sharkey contest already scheduled for New York, and will be promoted either by Tex Rickard or by some Chicago agent of his, probably Jim Mullen.

MEXICAN, HELD IN WHITESIDE JAIL, SUICIDES

Hanged Self by Wrap- ping Belt Around Neck in Night

Morrison—Fiden Galina, 43 years of age, being held without bonds in the county jail on the charge of the murder of a fellow Mexican, Jose Rodriguez, May 30, at Round Grove, hung himself in his cell Wednesday night, his body being found at 7:15 o'clock Thursday morning when Sheriff J. W. Kelly visited Galina's cell. Galina, who was a Mexican-Indian, had been very ugly and unruly for several days and he was being carefully watched by the officers. Wednesday afternoon he attempted to slash Hal Allen, a cellmate, with a safety razor blade, and Sheriff Kelly placed him in a cell by himself on the second floor of the jail.

Fatal Shooting May 30.
On May 30th, Galina shot Jose Rodriguez with a shot gun and the latter died in the Sterling public hospital early on the morning of May 31. Galina claimed that he shot in defense of his home, but there were several angles to the case that were being looked up and he was held without bond on a charge of murder. He was given a cell which opened into the same corridor or bullpen as that of Hal Allen of Erie.

Wednesday Galina got into an altercation with Allen regarding some tobacco. As Mr. Allen started into his cell from the corridor, Galina struck at him with a sort of knife he had made from one of Mr. Allen's safety razor blades. Mr. Allen parried the blow and it landed against a steel bar and the knife was broken. Galina was just in the act of punching upon Mr. Allen when Sheriff Kelly unlocked the cell door and the Mexican-Indian started toward Sheriff Kelly.

Put in Cell By Himself.
The man was then removed from the cell and placed upstairs in a cell by himself. Sheriff Kelly had been watching the actions of the man carefully for several days as it was believed that he was going to attempt to break out. Last Monday his wife visited him and he gave her a number of pieces of pasteboard and parts of newspapers on which he had written on a foreign language. They have not as yet been read. The prisoner was very angry when these papers were taken away from his wife.

Sheriff Kelly with the aid of a trusty partially searched Galina's clothing Wednesday evening when he placed him in the separate cell. Thursday morning before breakfast he went upstairs with some overalls and a shirt for Galina.

When Sheriff Kelly looked into the cell through the small opening he saw nothing of the man and his first thought was that he had escaped. He saw the man's shoes, however, and looking close to the door he saw Galina's face. He called to him, thinking that the man was hiding there ready to make a break should he open the door. Receiving no answer and carefully scrutinizing the face in the shadow of the door he saw that he was dead. He got a knife and cut the belt which was around the man's neck and the body fell to the floor and as he opened the door the body rolled out into the corridor. A physician was called but he stated that death had occurred several hours previous.

Galina had placed the belt, a heavy one, around his neck and then tying the loose end to the cell door he had pulled his knees up and strangled himself.

He is the second prisoner to take his life while confined in the county jail, a man by the name of Sellers having committed suicide while in jail fifteen years or more ago.

 Sermon at 11:00 A. M. by the pastor.
 B. Y. P. D. at 7:30 P. M.
 Evening worship at 8:00 P. M.
 Our daily vacation Bible school opened Monday with an enrollment of 54, and we are sure there are other children in the community that expected to come but were hindered for various reasons on this first day. Every child in the community is extended a very cordial invitation to attend this school, and there learn more of Jesus.
 Friday evening, June 24, the Men's Bible class expects to hold an ice cream social on the church lawn. Everybody invited.
 N. H. Hoeft, pastor.

 6:45 P. M.—Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor.
 7:45 P. M.—Evangelistic service. Sermon by the pastor on a very timely subject, "The Signs of the Times." You will want to hear this message which deals with the signs of the near return of the Lord Jesus. Surely these things ought to stimulate watchfulness and increased activity in witnessing to both Jews and Gentiles.
 Wednesday at 7:45 P. M.—Praise and Bible study. Two prayer meetings for young and old. Make this your family night. This is a worthwhile service.
 Our vacation Bible school has been well attended. We have about sixty enrolled. We urge parents to send their children next week, which will be the closing week. Children can enroll at any time.
 No doubt, a special program will be given by the children next Friday evening.
 "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

319 Second Street
 Regular services Sunday morning June 26, at 11 o'clock. Subject: "Christian Science."
 The reading room is open each week day from 2 to 4 except holidays. The public is cordially invited to attend.
 The church school opens at 9:30. Jerome P. Cox, Supt. At 10:45 the morning worship, communion and sermon. Miss Ora Finn and Mr. Louis Leydig are the musical directors. Sermon by the minister at this service will be "Nolesless Power."
 The Christian Endeavorers will hold their Sunday evening prayer service at 6:30. Topic: "Where are Missionaries Most Needed, in India or in Africa?" The sermon at 7:30 will be on "A Hero's Testing."
 Sunday will be the last day of the current missionary year, and all pledges toward the missions budget of the church should be brought down to date; and non-payers' offerings should be made complete, so that the church's credits may reach the maximum. And the evening service will be the last of this fund since the congregation will join with six others in union meetings at night during the months of July and August.

 Luther League 7:00 p. m. Subject: "The Moslem World." To seek and save that which is lost." Mary Currens, leader.
 Sunday, July 3 will be held the mid-summer Communion. At this time an effort will be made to get in full our 1927 Benevolent Funds—our apportionment. Already we are well on the way toward this. In the absence of any pastor, it will be well if this fund can be completed at this time. Let us all bear this in mind and have ready our offering against this day. Let us make this final Communion Service together by grace of God, a count of unusual blessedness. I shall count it a great privilege to meet and minister to every member of the congregation in this holy service. Come, "Let us worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness."

THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Albert W. Carlson, Minister
 The church school meets at 9:45 A. M. The attendance has been very good and we believe will hold out better than ever.
 Morning worship at 10:45 A. M. when the pastor will preach on the subject "Dedicating a Life." As this is another in the special group of sermons on "Life and the Ethics of Living" it will be for the purpose of helpfulness and guidance. All members of the Official Board are asked to come into the study five minutes before worship.
 Epworth League will meet at 6:30 P. M. It is desired that all officers of the league be present.
 Happy Sunday evening services at 7:30. This is the last of our Sunday evenings for this spring. The pastor will speak on "Bags of Gold," and such they really are. Special music by the male quartet and soloists. Installation of League officers.
 Monday: Meeting of the official board at 7:30 P. M. After the transacting of the regular business of the church Brother Lundman will hold the Fourth Quarterly Conference. All members are expected to be present.
 Wednesday: Midweek Bible study and prayer meeting service at 7:30 P. M.
 Sunday, July 3. The service will be as follows: Church school at 9:45 A. M. Morning worship at 10:45, when the pastor will preach "League at 6:30 P. CHERRY VALLEY MAN KILLED BY TRAIN THURSDAY

Oil Truck Struck by North-Western Passenger Train

W. E. Littlefield, 35, manager of the Standard Oil company station at Cherry Valley, was killed instantly at 1:25 Thursday afternoon when he drove his truck directly into the path of a west-bound Chicago & North-Western train, at a grade crossing just east of the Cherry Valley depot. Witnesses stated that Littlefield, who was just returning from a trip to the tanks located north of the tracks, had apparently thought the train was going to stop at the station.

Truck is Demolished.

Cherry Valley is a "flag" stop for the west-bound afternoon passenger train and station employees, having no passengers, had given the engineer a clear board.

Father of Three Children

Members of the train crew removed the body and held the train at Cherry Valley until the arrival of Coroner Fred C. Olson who assumed charge of an investigation. Littlefield has resided in Cherry Valley for 12 years as manager of the Standard Oil company station. He is survived by a wife and three small children.

Chaotic Conditions are Developing in Canton

Canton, China, June 24—(AP)—Chaotic conditions are developing here in connection with opposition by labor elements to the anti-trust activities of the authorities. Strong military patrols guard the city and machine guns have been mounted at the railway stations and artificial island of Sham-keen where the foreign quarter is located.

Mutinous Convicts Have Augmented Ultimatum

Lansing, Kan.—Extensive demands for better conditions at the state prison today succeeded the convicts' ultimatum—no cigarettes, no coal—that precipitated a mutiny Tuesday in which 325 prisoners harried themselves and 14 captive guards in a coal mine. The new ultimatum, telephoned from the mine to the state prison board resulted in a deadlock.

Gorilla Man?

John J. Cleary has a novel way of keeping the birds out of his cherry trees. He purchased a dozen snakes, and they have been fastened to the limbs, and seem to do the work very well. The snakes, however, are artificial. They move as the branches bend in the breeze, and this makes the birds move on to a less protected tree.—Ashton Gazette.

"Third Degree" Methods Admitted by Dry Agent

New York—A "Chinese method of punishment" involving the tying of a towel about the head of a man given the "third degree" has been used at federal prohibition headquarters. This was admitted in federal court by Major Heise, assistant prohibition administrator for this district.

Chaotic Conditions are Developing in Canton

Canton, China, June 24—(AP)—Chaotic conditions are developing here in connection with opposition by labor elements to the anti-trust activities of the authorities. Strong military patrols guard the city and machine guns have been mounted at the railway stations and artificial island of Sham-keen where the foreign quarter is located.

Mutinous Convicts Have Augmented Ultimatum

Lansing, Kan.—Extensive demands for better conditions at the state prison today succeeded the convicts' ultimatum—no cigarettes, no coal—that precipitated a mutiny Tuesday in which 325 prisoners harried themselves and 14 captive guards in a coal mine. The new ultimatum, telephoned from the mine to the state prison board resulted in a deadlock.

Gorilla Man?

John J. Cleary has a novel way of keeping the birds out of his cherry trees. He purchased a dozen snakes, and they have been fastened to the limbs, and seem to do the work very well. The snakes, however, are artificial. They move as the branches bend in the breeze, and this makes the birds move on to a less protected tree.—Ashton Gazette.

400 "EXTRA DRY" SHELL GASOLINE

Motorists Everywhere are Turning to This Superior Gasoline — — — It Costs No More!

Only such far-reaching improvements as balloon tires and 4-wheel brakes have equalled the favorable impression made upon the motoring public by 400 "Extra Dry" Shell... the superior gasoline that sells for the price of the ordinary kind.

At one stroke, by a radical change in its refining process, Shell gasoline has been raised... not only in power and efficiency... but also in the estimation of those who take pride in the performance of their cars.

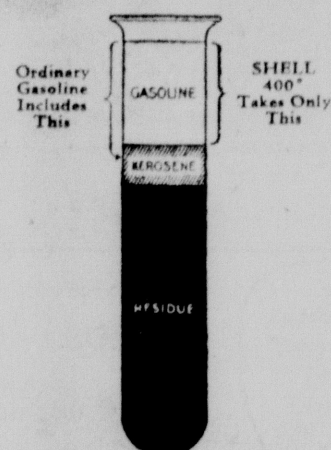

As a result... 400 "Extra Dry"... is the most talked-of gasoline on the market... praised and recommended on every hand... steadily sweeping on in popular favor.

Specially noteworthy is the preference shown for 400 "Extra Dry" Shell by men in the automobile business... Many dealers recommend it to their customers. Demonstrating salesmen use it to bring out the best in their cars.

Truck owners, too, always alert for a chance to cut down operating costs, are instructing their drivers to "Change to Shell."

Drive to a Shell Yellow-red Service Station and try 400 "Extra Dry" today. Give the tank all it will hold. Drain the crankcase and refill with Shell Motor Oil. Then test your engine under the most difficult conditions and feel the difference.

Why 400 "Extra Dry" SHELL is Superior

The Improved Shell Way takes only the Gasoline from the Crude

The specifications in general use take the gasoline from the crude with fractions of the heavier and less volatile elements.

The SHELL way (400 End Point) takes only the gasoline from the crude—producing a higher gravity gasoline—extra dry, clean-burning and wonderfully powerful and effective.

Have you ever made good on one job... for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Sheila Kildare and her father emigrate to America to follow Emmett Murtough to whom she is engaged. Murtough joins a band of bootleggers and Sheila's only friends are the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer. Murtough, influenced by a cabaret girl, betrays to a rival gang the hiding place of $150,000 contraband. He leaves Sheila for this girl at a dance given by the West End Club, and Rory challenges Murtough to a fight.

CHAPTER XII—Continued
He swung a powerful sweeping blow, but without lifting his hands in defense Rory side stepped it and let Murtough go stumbling to catch himself from his own impetus. When he wheeled and started to rush again Rory was ready.

With practice which came through his years of fighting Rory began ripping Murtough's face. He dodged the flying arms with the greatest of ease and when Murtough tried rough and tumble wrestling methods was always just out of reach of those crushing arms. The blows upon his face, the blood that streamed from his eyes and nose infuriated Murtough. By sheer brute weight he bore down O'Shea's jabbing arms and seized him. The great biceps of the truck driver knotted into balls as he crushed the little fighter to him, determined to break his back. But Rory had not trained for years in vain, and the steel of his own muscles resisted the pressure.

Rory at that moment tricked his assailant and let himself to the floor suddenly like an acrobat. Murtough falling heavily but not upon his victim. His arms had opened in an unconscious effort to save himself from the fall, and Rory had squirmed out of them. Rory leaped to his feet and stood at ease.

"Get up now and get what's coming to you!" Murtough clambered to his feet and measured his distance. He rushed, but this time there were no stinging stabs on his eyes and nose. There was a crash of hard knuckles against bone, and Murtough's head shook like a swimmer shaking the water from his eyes. The big man's fists dropped half way down to his waist, and Rory set himself and sent another crashing to the chin. Murtough twisted about on his heels a moment and then sprawled full length upon the floor.

"The big dub," commented Clocker. Rory walked to the sink in the rear and washed his hands and face. Very calmly he put on his collar, then called to Devlin. "Say, Devlin, tie this tie for me, will you?" As Devlin struggled with the black batwing Rory whispered to him. "Find Doc Yeager, will you. I think I've broken every knuckle in my right hand."

"Good lord, me, that puts you out of the game forever." "That doesn't worry me, but get him and tell him to bring some tape down with him. He'll find some in the emergency box in the office." Devlin sped off, and Rory sat down upon a box to rest. Clocker walked over to the groaning Murtough, who was just coming to. "Get up," he cried as he kicked him in the ribs. "Get up and clean yourself up. You're a sight. Better get home and get straight for tomorrow. You'll have work to do then."

Murtough staggered to his feet. "Where is he? Where is he?" he mumbled. But Clocker jerked him about and sent him reeling toward the wash sink. "Clean up and get out of here. You've been licked by the best boxer for his weight in this town. You ought to be proud of it."

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Attempts have been made on the life of ELISE VILAK, an American girl who lives and lives on property adjoining the queer little jungle-bordered town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil.

Several mysterious deaths have occurred, including that of one of her foremen. Her two-year-old orphaned nephew is kidnapped but is found again, largely through the efforts of VILAK, her cousin and protector, who is known in Porto Verde as ATTORNEY DAVILA. Elise's lawyer, Vilak has sent for LINCOLN STANLEY, elderly American chemist, to help him get at the bottom of the mystery.

They are ignorant of the cause of this hostility toward Elise but suspect that a man named GAY-LORD PRINCE, a violent and forbidding character, is somehow involved.

Word is brought to Elise that WILSON, the manager of her property at VILLAPA, is desperately ill and must see her at once. Vilak suspects a trick and he insists that he and Nunnally accompany her.

On the road to Villapa they are ambushed by a band of ruffians in the uniforms of soldiers. They think that he and his companions are wanted for murder. The charge is obviously a fake. Vilak is convinced their captors are in the pay of Elise's enemies.

He and Nunnally are trussed up and thrown into a room, but the abashed Vilak lets the female slave swarm over his body and they soon eat nearly through his hands. It is an easy matter for him to snap them. Releasing Nunnally, he overpowers his guard, palms a gun and escapes. At Villapa, Wilson says he had not sent for them.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XXV

HE was sorry, terribly sorry the thing had happened, Wilson went on. He hoped Elise wouldn't hold it against him. Wouldn't she take his two pistols? Though they would leave the fazenda without a weapon, he'd be delighted to give them to her. And of course she needn't worry about Villapa now. He was perfectly able to take care of everything.

She refused a loan which would have seemingly left him helpless, expressed her delight that his condition had so improved, and made ready to return to Porto Verde.

Wilson ingratiatingly insisted on sending a bodyguard for at least a part of the journey in order to prevent a repetition of her misadventures during the afternoon. Accordingly he sent for twenty of his laborers, armed them with machetes, clubs, and axes, gave them horses and ordered them to accompany the travelers. "Sorry I can't go with you," he said obsequiously, his great drawn eyelids opening and shutting quickly as though they were too weak to bear the light of the torches flaming in the laborers' hands. "Terribly sorry. Feel I'm shirking. But you know how it is . . . after fever . . . after fever."

The cavalcade set off, the torches outlining men and horses in fantastic dancing red against the black and threatening sky. Uphill, downhill they rode, through the ravine where they had been ambushed, then through the swollen creek which formed the road to Porto Verde. The three travelers constantly searched the darkness for some evidence of renewed activity on the part of their attackers of the afternoon. But their efforts were wasted. They heard nothing, saw nothing. A short distance from the Porto Verde fazenda Elise, after consulting Vilak, sent their escort back to Villapa. The rain, which had ceased for a few hours, began to fall again in torrents. Elise tightened the raincoat about her slim neck. Suddenly she drew a sharp breath.

By the flickering flame Elise saw that the bandage was no longer on the wound he had received in his wrist two days before.

Vilak turned. "What's the matter?" he asked quietly.

"Nothing. Only I've just thought about Tinky." Nervously, unconsciously she quickened her horse. "A thousand things can have happened to him while we've been away. Anything can have happened."

"But nothing has happened. Be sensible. You've been a good soldier all day, a perfect soldier. I couldn't have asked for a better. Don't weaken and start being . . . feminine . . . at the last minute. Tinky'll be all right. Here. You'd better have a cigaret."

She took a light from his shielded hand and let her fingers linger gently upon his a moment. Then she put the cigaret to her lips.

She smoked pensively a moment. "I'm not a good soldier," she said at length. "You're only trying to keep up my spirits. I'm a bad soldier. So wretched that I'd be given a dishonorable discharge in any respectable army. This morning you told me not to go to Villapa. I went. You were right. I was wrong. Then, when we were captured, I did nothing but sit on a log and stare wearily into a fire. You, though bound hand and foot, first freed yourself and then freed me."

"Tomorrow I'm going to be a still worse soldier. I'm going to run away from the battle. And frankly, as far as Tinky is concerned, you were right when you said I'd be glad to get away before. I want to get him to some place where things can't happen with the ease they did today. If there were a boat out to night, I'd take it. Yes, it seems to me, all in all, I'm a pretty poor sort of Amazon."

The rain had extinguished Vilak's cigaret. He struck a match to light it. By the flickering flame Elise saw that the bandage was no longer on the wound he had received in his wrist two days before. She snatched his hand and before he could prevent was binding it gently and effectively with a clean handkerchief.

"I'm a grateful Amazon, at least," she murmured, brightening. "Even you can't keep me from being that."

They reached the fazenda, Elise hurried to find Tinky. He was in her bedroom, sleeping soundly. The jovial Hannah was sitting in a chair beside him. In the next room sat Schwartz, smoking a vast meerschaum pipe. He looked up and greeted Elise as she entered.

Assured that the child was safe, though it was close on midnight, Elise hurried to have supper prepared for her two guests and herself. The three of them quickly changed their wet clothes for dressing gowns. They ate heartily, then played a single rubber of bridge, the weary and sleepy old man making blunders that would have driven serious-minded bridge players into a passion. Vilak, with his monotonous regularity, won.

Elise shook her dainty head. She had completely recovered her usual sprightliness. "You're getting to be really unbearable," she said, in mock despair she threw her cards onto the table. "You're always right; you always win. No matter how good a hand I have, you always manage to make me play second fiddle somehow. I've half a mind to send you home. You're terribly hard on my self-esteem. I can't have such a clever person as you around."

She rose from the table. "After all, perhaps it isn't that you are any cleverer for being a man. Perhaps it's that you're merely got a long tradition behind you which we women haven't—sort of fooling the public for hundreds of centuries, you know and that gives you confidence. Anyway, I'll comfort myself by saying it's that. Good night, Mr. Nunnally. Good night, manly and superior relative," she said. She moved toward the door.

"Just a minute, Elise," Vilak's bantering voice checked her. She halted. "Yes?"

"Just wanted to ask you a question. Was that . . . kiss you gave me this afternoon a sign of homage, a tribute to your superior, was it cousinly, or was it . . . a proposal?"

She whipped the dressing gown tighter about her. "Pardon me if I tell you to go to the devil, my conceited friend," she flashed and whisked out of the room.

After bidding the old man good night, Vilak made his customary tour of the house, then retired. The pouring rain continued throughout the night, but ceased after a murky dawn.

Elise busied herself in completing preparations for her departure. Vilak, wishing to go to town to make a few purchases, sought out the old man, in order that they might make the journey together, but finding him deep in a sleep of exhaustion, did not wake him but set off alone. He reached Porto Verde, to see the usual groups of natives clustered in the

WEST BROOKLYN NEWS

West Brooklyn—Peter Dolan and workmen are busy this week building a foundation for the new residence on the Carnahan place east of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Shryock were here from Canton, Ill., and spent the week end at the home of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meyer.

Henry L. Gehant was here from Dixon Wednesday and loaded up his steam engine on a flat car for shipment to a point in Iowa where he has sold the machine and equipment. He will continue to run his threshing ring with a gas tractor.

Charles Krahenbuhl, Louis Kessler, Chris Missman and Ernest Ponto drove to Mendota Tuesday evening where they were initiated into the Moose lodge. A large number of old members drove down to help celebrate the occasion with them.

T. J. Miller, Jr., was here from Dixon Tuesday in quest of piano buyers.

Tom Dooley was in town Wednesday and reports that he will be obliged to leave a forty acre patch uncultivated this year because of the water. There are numerous ponds and low places in the flats which are not being farmed this year but this is the largest we have heard about.

Frank Kellen was here from Shaw Tuesday and called on business friends. Mr. and Mrs. Kellen had just returned from Aurora where they attended the graduation of their daughter from a course in nursing. This makes two daughters they have that are nurses.

The band boys drove to Paw Paw Thursday where they furnished the music for the farmers' picnic. A large number of our people followed to take in the celebration given by the farmers elevator of that village each year.

Mrs. Oliver Gehant submitted to a tonsillar operation at the Dixon hospital Wednesday.

Frank Halmaier, Jr., was a business caller in Amboy Tuesday.

Joseph Auchstetter and John Floraschuetz shipped a load of stock to market the latter part of the week.

Adolph Chaon had the misfortune of losing two of his dairy cows last week. One broke her neck getting into a manger and the other injured herself so that she had to be shot.

Word was received from Pekin, Ill., of the death of Mrs. George Hazelman of that place. Hazelman's folks lived here for many years and were sorry to learn of the breaking of their home. Mrs. Hazelman had been in poor health since a son was accidentally killed by a mower while they lived upon the farm here, hence they were obliged to give up farming and move to town.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Klein were here from LaMoille Sunday and visited at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hulisch.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCoy were out from Aurora Sunday and spent the day at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Longbein and other friends.

The band boys will start their regular weekly concerts next Wednesday evening. They will continue to hold them on Wednesday evening instead of Friday as heretofore. The boys are in the best of condition and it is worth traveling many miles to hear them. Besides our stores will offer special inducements to purchasers on these evenings and the additional patronage to our merchants will tend to offset the cost of holding the band concerts. Make West Brooklyn your Wednesday night town.

There were a large number of our people who motored to Compton Wednesday afternoon where they attended the funeral services of Mrs. J. N. Risley. Mrs. Risley was the 'Hello Girl' at Compton and made many friends because of her kindness and courtesy in the service, and it is with regret that we see her passing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lough were here from Dixon Sunday and took their father, W. A. Lough back with them for supper and to spend the evening.

Joseph Galliseth trucked a load of eighteen hogs to the city Thursday morning and disposed of them on the market.

George Zinke's pasture was the scene of a rather exciting time last Sunday afternoon when the Bureau Creek Suckers drove up with their ball team and rosters to try their luck at trimming the Brooklyn Giants, composed of a number of married men south of town. The battery for the visitors was Jackson and Erbes and for the Giants, Fox and Barnickel. Hobart Harper umpired the game which lasted almost into the night and ended with

The Suckers beating the Giants by a score of 11 to 8. The participants were busy the following day trying to limber up sore arms and limbs following the unusual exercise.

Charles Zinke was in town visiting with his many friends Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McBride were here from Mendota Tuesday and spent the day visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews.

Mrs. Ruth Theiss is here from Sublette spending the week with her mother, Mrs. H. F. Gehant.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Erbes motored here from Chicago Sunday and spent the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Erbes. Mrs. Christena Erbes returned with them following a two weeks visit with her son in the city.

A. F. Lyman was here from Lee Center Tuesday calling on friends and former neighbors.

Mrs. Sarah Henry was here from Rochelle over the week end and visited at the homes of friends and relatives.

The following is the list of donors to the Red Cross Relief fund which came in too late to get into the original list, however greatly appreciated just the same. Further donations may be sent direct to Dixon.

William Halboth $2.00
Frank Gehant, Jr. 1.00
W. A. Halmaier 1.00
Roy Carnahan 5.00

A number of the directors of the farmers elevator drove to Princeton last Saturday and attended the annual meeting of the state association of Farmers Elevators.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin F. Knauer and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott drove to Chicago Saturday evening and spent the following day at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Neighbor and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Small.

Claude Gehant was here from the University of Illinois over the middle of the week and visited at the Albert Gehant home.

Sherman Brothers are busy this week building a new screened porch on the H. A. Bernard home which makes a fine improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chaon and family motored to the Henry Glaser farm Sunday and spent the day.

Word was received from Chicago of the death of Frank Barr but the funeral arrangements could not be learned until it was too late for our people to attend. Death came to relieve him of his suffering from a growth within the skull, and he was taken to Elgin some weeks ago for treatment. Frank was a popular figure in our community for many years, being born and raised east of town. He was leader of the band for a number of years and also became popular as a pure bred Hampshire hog raiser. He won numerous state and international prizes. He left the farm some five years ago to accept a position with Gentlemen & Sons livestock commission firm at Chicago and continued to make his home in the city until his death.

John Halmaier returned home from Amboy Saturday where he had been on business.

Claude Smith was here from Amboy locating the positions for placing the new street lights.

Lafe Nelles and John Galliseth have each been busy supplying our housewives with fine strawberries for canning. Berries seem to be very plentiful this year.

George Halmaier left for Ottawa the middle of the week where he will take mud baths, seeking relief from asthma. Prior to this he had been confined to his home for two weeks.

Walter Gehant returned to Champaign Monday to resume his studies at the U. of I. after enjoying a two weeks vacation.

J. M. Lovett was here from Amboy Monday and called on business friends.

Jack Conschack has been exhibiting some fine early potatoes which he claims to have raised and which are about the size of one's fist. There are not many under a hill however, Jack says.

Because of the funeral of Mrs. Risley Wednesday, the domestic science club meeting was postponed until Friday afternoon, at which time it will be held at the home of Mrs. Laura Nelles.

Joseph Maier and George Bresson shelled and delivered their corn this week.

Miss Ada Guffin was a morning passenger for Paw Paw Wednesday where she spent the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Florian Walter visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barr in the vicinity of Amboy Sunday.

E. E. Wingert was here from Dixon Wednesday calling on business friends.
